Dear colleagues,

After our first, provisional call for a specialist workshop on Neolithic ceramics from the ancient Near East we were happy to receive quite a number of positive responses. It seems to be clear amongst specialists that there is a need to come together.

Most of you, however, pointed out that our first suggested date (summer 2011) was far too unrealistic given everyone's overcrowded agenda. Many suggested to postpone the workshop to January 2012. We therefore have rescheduled the meeting to Friday 27 - Monday 30, January 2012.

Could you please tell us if this new date indeed fits your schedule better, and that you intend to participate? We shall then proceed with the organization

Proposed date: Friday 27 – Monday 30 January 2012.

Location: Brno and Rejviz (Czech Republic). We provide accommodation and transport from Brno to Rejviz and vice versa (see: <http://rejviz.czech-mountains.eu/>).

Duration: three days, depending on the final number of participants.

Fee: 150,- Euro (including accommodation and full board in Rejviz).

Proceedings: to be published.

Looking forward to seeing you in Brno!
